ghe Chicago Crack, Vencedor, Salls a Spie did Race in a Stiff Wind and Leads All the Narrow Margin on Time Allowance Tolepo, Aug. 26 .- After one of the greatest paces ever seen on fresh water, the Royal Canadian yacht Canadia defeated the Chicago in keel yacht Vencedor for the championship of the lakes to-day by the narrow margin of 26 seconds, corrected time, and incidentally won the beautiful sliver challenge trophy and sixty per cent. of the $1,500 in gold offered by the eltizens of Toiedo. While the Vencedor was defeated she sailed a great race, and actually best the Canada 3 minutes 31 seconds over the course, but lost the race on corrected time, as she had to allow the Fife boat a handicap of minutes 57 seconds.

As has already been pointed out in the colsmos of THE SUN, the Chicago yacht's only chance lay in getting a breeze, and to-day she had her opportunity, for the wind ranged from fiteen to twenty knots an hour. At one time the Vencesior had the race practically won, but the errors of her skipper on the first round lost her the advantage. While on the way back from the outer mark the Vencedor made two extra hitches and then overstood the mark, while the Canada, after making one lone leg on the starboard tack made the mark on the next tack. The Vencedor, properly handled, should have turned the home mark first time round at least 216 minutes ahead, which. wen her the race, while, as it was, she only just held her minute-and-a-quarter lead gained on her run to the outer mark early in the race.

There is talk of an immediate challenge for the Toledo Cup, but as yet none has been issued, though it is certain that the Royal Toronto Yacht Club will not be long allowed to remain n undisturbed possession of the trophy. The Canadians would like to have the cup restricted a boats of forty-two feet racing length, and as this is a most desirable class it is not unlikely to adouted particularly as boats of this size would be able to enter any harbor on the lakes The vachtsmen are all delighted with the treatment they received here, and, as a matter of fact, all the promoters seem to have done their best to make the affair a success. Among these who have worked early and late for the success of these races are Robinson Locke and W. H. Porter of the International Race Asso. clation, and Michael C. Murphy, N. D. Cochrane, A. E. Chase, Archie Fleming, L. G. Wilkinson, Col. Charles Coughlin, Leven O'Dwyer, Rendrick Brusee, and H. J. Howard of the Press Club. To night the yachtsmen and their fair friends were entertained at a ball in Prihian Castle, and Vice-Commodore Jarvis purse.

When the fresh-water sailors who are gathstred at Lake Erie tumbled out of their bunks this morning they found that for once the Weather Fureau had told the truth, as the long-yedicted wind had arrived in force from the southwest, causting the racers who were anchored off Riverside Park to tug and strain at their cables in a manner that stirred the blood of the Corinthian skippers from both sides of the border. The Yankee yachtsmen were naturally delighted, as at last the alleged heavy weather qualities of the Vencedor were to be tested. While the majority of the sailing yachts carried from one to two reefs in their mainsaits, the cup racers scorned any such precautions and had full sail up.

As a matter of fact they did not have any howling gaie to deal with, but rather a fine sailing breeze of somewhere between fifteen and eventeen miles an hour, but it was literally a make to deal with sail to the tof excit was and the sail went went to fine the property and the sail was the first of excit was and the sail went went to the total of the control of the sail was the first of excit was and the sail was the first of excit was and the sail was the first of excit was and the sail was the first of excit was and the sail was the first of excit was and the sail the sail of excit was and the sail was the first of excit was and the sail the sail of excit was and the sail ered at Lake Erie tumbled out of their bunks smoky southwester, for when the fleet of excursion steamers and steam yachts started down the muddy Manimee River to the scene of action the whole channel and harbor was obscured by a thick cloud of smoke from their funnels as soon as the soft coal in their furnaces commenced to get in its fine work.

While our vachtsmen were naturally jubilant over the prospect, Skipper Jarvis of the Canada simply stroke his tawny beard and smiled as one of the Canuck's dandy amateur orew observed:

"We have a boat under us, and I think we will carry canvas as long as the Vencedor, and if not we can reef."

Alibough the Canada's crew are about the win carry calvas as long as the vencedor, and if not wecan reef.

Although the Canada's crew are about the likeliest set of amateurs and all-round good fellows that ever set foot on a yacht, their lot is none too easy, for only about three of them saw anything of the racins, except when they were setting enunakers or shifting canvas. This may sound strange, but it is true, for on account of Designer Fife's modern ideas in having all the halliards and mainsheet runs below deck the crew are under cover, and consequently out of sight most of the time.

To-day's race was over a twenty-mile course, five miles to leeward and return, sailed over twice, and while there were many who believed it the Vencedor would win on actual time, few thought that she could allow the Canada her handicap and beat her.

The starting signal came at 11:30, and.

starting signal came at 11:30, and

The starting signal came at 11:30, and, as usual, Capt. Barbour crossed the line first, and his green crew surprised every one by breaking out their balloon jibtopsail and spinnaker before the Canadian experts on the Dominion craft thought of touching theirs. The Vencedore rossed twenty seconds after the signal about hair a dozen lengths in front of the Canada, and while Capt. Barbour held his course with everything drawing. Skipper Jarvis commenced to luft out across the Vencedor's stern, with a view of bianacting his Yankee rival. The Windy City boat, however, proved too fast for her and slowly but surely drew away. She son increased her lead to a dozen lengths. At 11:35 the wind commenced to haul a little more to the westward, and at one time even threatened to go around to the northwest, which would have made a reaching race of it. The Vencedor continued to gain, and was timed as she rounded the outer mark at 12:09, the Canada being limed at 12:10:20 a gain of one minute and side of the canada being limed at 12:10:20 a gain of one minute and limed as 12:10:20 a gain of one minute and limed as 12:10:20 a gain of one minute and ed the outer mark at 12:09, the Canada being timed at 13:10:20, a gain of one minute and twenty seconds for the Yankee boat in the run down the wind.

As this was the first time in three days that the Vencedor had ever rounded a mark first the captains on the steam yachts and excursion bests gave her an ovation on their whistles, while firsh water yachtsmen cheered themselves hoarse in honor of the incident. Previous to rounding spinnakers and balloon jibtopsails were taken in, and while Canada set her small libtopsail the Vencedor only carried her stay-sail and fib. The Vencedor as a he rounded flew off on the port tack, while just after the Canada sumed she went on the starboard tack and stood to the southwest a little astern, but well to wind ward. The Canada took no extra hitches, but stood stright in or the home mark on the starboard tack.

sood to the southwest a little astern, but well to windward. The Canada took no extra hitches, but stood straight for the home mark on the starboard tack.

The Venceior now commenced to show her true form as a dash of rain and a squall from the westward buried her lee rail under. This seemed to be just what she wanted, and the manner in which she walked away from the Canada astonished every one. Her lead of an eighth of a mile at the turn was soon increased to a third of a mile, at 12:45 the Vencedor made another minute and a haif hitch on the port tack, coming about to starboard again at 12:46:30. The Canada, which had made along ley on the starboard tack, went about to port at 12:57:90, making the mark in see hitch, while the Vencedor, evidently having mistaken the mark boat, made another extra litch at 12:37:05 overstanding it a little and ascrincing all she had gained on the way down. Their timest at this mark were: Vencedor, 12:39:15; Canada, 1:00:41.

It was now a broad reach on the starboard tack.

Their times at this mark were: Vencedor, 19:59:15; Canada, 1:00:41.

It was now a broad reach on the starboard tack with baleon jibtopsalls, and the racers left sil but the fastest of the steam yachts far astern. The wind held steadily to the westward and gradually increased to twenty-five miles an hour, some of the local experts even fluoring it as high as thirty miles an hour. In fact, so strong did it blow that both yachts had more than they could stagger under, and their baloon libtopsalls, which they set when they rounded the home mark, were taken in when half way out.

The Vencedor, however, seemed to revel in its stronger breeze and drew away from her beautiful Candian sister in splendid style, rounding the outer mark at 1:33:30, the Canada coing timed at 1:30:10, or two minutes and forty seems timed at 1:30:10, or two minutes and forty seems timed at 1:30:10, or two minutes and forty seems.

rounding the outer mark at 1:33:30, the Candada oring timed at 1:36:10, or two minutes and orty seconds astern. It was now a close reach to the starbard tack to the finish, and Skipper Barbour made no extra hitch as he did on the previous round, but drove the Vencedor straight for the home mark. A small jibtopsall quickly blossomed out on the Canada, which seemed to do good work, and in spite of the way the Fife beat spite alled forward in the short choppy seas she made fast time as the wind fell a little.

The Vencedor continued to gain, but as slowly that it seemed impossible that she could ever make up the 3 minutes 57 seconds which she had to allow the Canada; and so it turned out, for the vencedor, while finishing 3 minutes 31 seconds ahead, lost the race by 26 seconds, corrected time, their times at the finish being; vencedor, 2:11:04: Canada, 2:14:35. Savannah sold 566, New Orleans 500, and Augusta 535 bales. The visitors as the New York Cotton Exchange were J. T. E. Thorn-hill of Charleston and E. S. Green of Arkansas. The future trading was as follows:

COTTON CATSERIE-It was a day of liquidation and prices declined sharply, closing at about the lowest figures of the day. Europe, the South, and local operators sold. It was reported that a large Wall street firm had sold out, and it was also said that a print, pent cotton operator had iquidated his localings. greater part of speculative interest. A sharp decline in Baltimore and Ohio made that stock conspicuous in the dealings, though the weak, ness in the stock was less remarkable than its long continued firmness. Reading declined on liquidation, presumably due to selling conducted in order to escape the forthcoming assessment. Some rather sharp declines were noted in certain of the inactive stocks, due to an itter absence of support at times when there chanced to be offerings of the securities in question. A disinclination to make new ventures until definite knowledge is had as to the purport of Mr. McKinley's letter of acceptance doubtless explains the decided stagnation and entirely professional character of the market.

Outside of these transactions there was very little in the stock market of the day, Such meagre outside interest as appeared in the market was expressed on the selling side, and in those stocks in which it was most evident de clines were recorded. The net changes at the end of the day were irregular and insignificant. Nothing of importance was done for foreign account. The material developments of the day were again favorable rather than otherwise, including as they did a further weakening in the foreign exchange market, together with easier conditions in the mercantile districts. The last statement does not need to be qualified by the failure of a large up-town dry goods house, as the insolvency of that concern has been a matter of general knowledge for a long time back, and the announcement of the failure had no real effect upon the stock market. There were no applications for loan certificates at the meeting of the Clearing House Loan Committee to-day. The decline in sterling exchange rates was logically followed by the announcement of an additional engagement of gold for import amounting to $500,000. and withdrawais of gold from the Bank of England amounting to about $2,000,000 were reported as being for shipment to this country.

Stock Exchange to-day was at the rate of 6 @ cent. The dominant influence in the trading was the same as that in yesterday's market, namely, the apprehensions that the letter of acceptance of the Republican nominee for the Presidency would fall short of Wall Street's expectations in its declarations upon the question of the national standard of value.

The total transactions in the market were about of the same proportions as they were yes-terday. A few stocks, notably Sugar Refining, St. Paul, and Western Union, monopolized the greater part of speculative interest. A sharp decline in Baltimore and Ohio made that stock
